

I can't understand why the "NAB" would want to limit satellite radio's ability to provide a outstanding service to listeners who pay for it. That would be like the local television stations (not cable) petitioning to stop the cable industry from providing a different platform on the news. Should we get rid of the "The weather station" because it interferes with the local news stations take on the weather. This is freedom of choice and I believe it is covered in the 1st amendment.

I want my satellite weather, news, and music and it's not up to congress to deny me of my 1st amendment. This is all about money plain and simple.

Chris Benavidez
Washington, D.C.